- ☐ the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of international preliminary examination (under Rule 55.2 and/or 55.3).

3. With regard to any nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence disclosed in the international application, the international preliminary examination was carried out on the basis of the sequence listing:

- ☐ contained in the international application in written form.
- ☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.

	No:	Claims
Industrial applicability (IA)	Yes:	Claims	1-24
	No:	Claims

2. Citations and explanations
see separate sheet

VIII. Certain observations on the international application

The following observations on the clarity of the claims, description, and drawings or on the question whether the claims are fully supported by the description, are made:
see separate sheet

1. The subject-matter of claim 1 relates to a method for producing hydrogen, electricity and at least one hydroprocessed product from hydrocarbonaceous feedstock, where feedstock is hydrotreated in the presence of a catalyst to produce a hydroprocessed product and a hydrotreated feedstock and where hydrogen and electricity are produced from the hydrotreated feedstock, the hydrogen being recycled to the hydrotreating zone and/or passed on to a treatment to produce electricity.

This subject-matter is novel over that of the documents cited in the Search Report, notably US-A-5 284 717, or D1, and US-A-3 463 611, or D2.

D1 discloses a method for producing raw materials for a reformer by cracking and desulphurizing petroleum fuels and passing the product of the cracking and desulphurizing step to a steam reformer to produce a product gas comprising hydrogen, carbon monoxide and carbon dioxide, which passes to a shift converter before being passed to a fuel cell to generate electricity.

D1 does not disclose the recycle of hydrogen to the cracking zone or the separation of the products from the cracking zone.

In D2 hydrocarbon feedstock is hydrocracked, the effluent passing to a separator to produce a recycle gas, from which a purge gas is removed and partially oxidized to form hydrogen which is then separated and passed back to the hydrocracking zone (see claims 1, 4, 5 and 6).

D2 does not disclose the treatment of hydrotreated feedstock or hydrogen to produce electricity.

Claim 1 meets the requirements of Article 33(2) PCT.

2. With regard to the dependent claims, these also meet the requirements of Article 33(2) PCT, being dependent on claim 1.
3. With regard to the inventive step, the problem to be solved is the provision of an integrated process which provides hydrogen, electricity and one or more liquid hydrocarbon products, as indicated on page 3, lines 13 to 26. This problem has been solved by the claimed method, which could not have been derived from either D1 or D2, alone or in combination as D1 is not concerned with the provision

INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION REPORT - SEPARATE SHEET

International application No. PCT/EP00/04396

of hydrogen or a hydrocarbon product and D2 is not concerned with the provision of electricity.

The claims meet the requirements of Article 33(3) PCT.

4. The subject-matter of claims 20 and 21 is defined in terms of a result to be achieved so that it is rendered unclear, i.e. " is operated in such a way that..".

Claims 20 and 21 do not meet the requirements of Article 6 PCT.
